

Hamro Foolbari, Sajha Foolbari Gyan Kunja

Complete Project Code (v1)

Overview

Hamro Foolbari, Sajha Foolbari Gyan Kunja is a non-profit school system focused on education through doing, civic awareness, and community ownership. This document represents the canonical project code governing the institution.

Core Principles

Education by doing. Civic awareness as a parallel track. Local teachers and governance. Transparency by default. No political or religious affiliation.

Mission

To establish a community-anchored, non-profit school and learning hub in Ramechhap, Nepal that delivers education through doing, integrates civic literacy, and serves as a proof of concept for scalable education in underserved regions.

Vision

Children who can think, build, question, and participate meaningfully in their communities.

Charter Summary

Hamro Foolbari shall operate as a non-profit, remain politically and religiously neutral, prioritize local teachers, publish progress transparently, and scale only after proof of concept.

Why Ramechhap

Ramechhap offers accessibility without urban dilution, underserved but stable communities, and clear replication pathways. It balances feasibility with impact.

Pedagogy

Learning follows a sequence of observation, action, reflection, and explanation. Theory follows experience, not the reverse.

Civic Education

Students and families learn rights and responsibilities, local governance, community problem-solving, and transparency.

Operations

Local teachers are trained in experiential pedagogy. Parents and community members participate through monthly workshops and shared projects.

Transparency

Funding sources are disclosed. Progress, failures, and changes are published publicly.

Current Status

Phase 0 — Foundation & Local Engagement. Focus on governance, community legitimacy, and disciplined planning.
